BALBOA, C. Z., Feb. 7.—The Navy Department today announced the loss of the United States submarine S-26 "at sea" on January 24 following a collision with an escorting naval vessel.

The submarine was coming to the surface when it collided with the escorting vessel, it was indicated.

Three members of the crew were saved.

The S-26 is the first United States submarine known to have been sunk since the beginning of the war.

Built After World War

U. S. submarines of the S-20 class were built following the first World War and up until 1922. They are of 1,062 tons displacement and are 219 feet long. Jane's fighting ships does not list their normal complement.

According to the navy announcement, the three survivors were thrown clear of the bridge by the collision.

The submarine quickly sank in 301 feet of water. It was located on January 29, after officers and crew members shot a buoy through the torpedo tubes.

The buoy floated to the surface and informed rescuers that the officers and crew members were in the central operating compartment. Authorities declared that they now

CAIRO, Feb. 7.—Still more slashing British aerial attacks on Axis mechanized forces in the Libyan desert were announced by the British Middle East command today in a communiqué said the land situation remained unchanged.

"Except for patrol activity on both sides and an exchange of artillery fire, there was no change in the land situation yesterday," the communiqué said.

"Bombers and fighters accounted for a considerable number of enemy vehicles in the forward areas."

"Our heavy bombers hit targets in distant enemy lines of communication."

Axis Advance Halted
Meanwhile, the Axis advance eastward toward Tobruk appeared to have been halted some 50 or 60 miles west of that objective, an important supply port on the Libyan Coast about 150 miles from the Egyptian border.

From this point on the coast, latest reports said, the British defense line now stretches inland some 200 miles to the southwest in the region of Misra.

Indications were that the British Eighth Army is preparing to make a stand along this line, now that the advance of Nazi Gen. Erwin Rommel's forces has brought him

NATION TO MOVE CLOCKS AHEAD

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—For the first time since World War I, the United States at 2 a. m. Monday will go on daylight time from coast to coast, with all clocks advanced one hour.

The new time, brought into being by a special act of Congress, has been designated "war time" by President Roosevelt and will endure until the end of the war and for six months thereafter. Although not covered by the act, Hawaii has decided to advance its clocks at the same time.

The law was sought by Mr. Roosevelt mainly to conserve power, but the fact that the extra hour of daylight will increase the output of the war industries and also lengthen the time for late afternoon recreation, were additional contributing factors.

Sugar Rationing Plan Will Reveal Hoarders

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Government printing presses today roared into a 24 hour schedule to turn out the nation's first food rationing books which will limit every man, woman and child in America approximately to three-quarters of a pound of sugar a week.

As soon as the enormous job of printing rationing books for 130,000,000 persons is completed, every consumer will be registered by public school teachers in order to qualify for a book. Each book will contain 28 stamps, all numbered and they may be used only to purchase sugar during an designated week. New books will be issued at the end of the 28 week period if the rationing is continued, and all indications are that it will.

How It Works
To get sugar with the book, the purchaser will go to a store and hand the clerk a stamp—and the necessary money, of course. The storekeeper, after selling the sugar, will stick the stamp to a card which he will turn over to the

British Guns Hammer At Jap Positions On Southern Malayan Mainland

SINGAPORE, Feb. 7.—Shells from long-range Japanese guns fell in the outskirts and residential areas of Singapore city today while British guns hammered Japanese positions on the southern tip of the Malayan mainland.

A new communiqué issued by the Far Eastern command said that "our artillery engaged targets in southern Johore."

The announcement also said that British guns hammered Japanese forces in Sampan (native boats) on the Strait of Johore.

These Jap forces evidently were attempting to stage raids on the island shoreline.

No Invasion Indicated
Informed sources in London expressed belief the Sampan attacks were operating in the same manner as British patrol launches, patrolling the area and seeking out information.

(There was nothing to indicate this activity had any special significance or that it was part of any invasion attempt, London authorities said.)

U. S. And British Army And Naval Strategists In Supreme Council

ALL WAR EFFORTS TO BE CO-ORDINATED

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—A supreme war council of United States and British military and naval strategists today began the gigantic task of coordinating the efforts of the two nations' forces now battling the Axis powers on scattered fronts throughout the world.

Establishment of the "combined chiefs of staff" group with headquarters in the nation's capital was disclosed in a special announcement by the war department.

Purpose of the group, comprised of eight high-ranking United States and British military and naval officers, is to coordinate war efforts of the two nations and speed the low materiel and reinforcements to their embattled armies everywhere.

News On War Front
An anticipated outgrowth of recent meetings between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, the announcement, nevertheless electrified the capital, dimming temporarily the not too encouraging news from many fighting fronts.

The announcement came as Gen. Douglas MacArthur's weary Philippine defenders dug in for renewed large scale Japanese attacks expected as the result of the arrival of an estimated 10,000 fresh enemy troops on the island of Luzon.

It came as German and Italian forces pressed on with their new offensive in Libya, and as Japanese invaders sought to smash United Nations opposition in the southwestern Pacific before adequate reinforcements could reach the defenders.

Representing the United States on the combined command are Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations; Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Admiral E. J. King, commander-in-chief of the fleet; and Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces. British representatives are Field Marshal Sir John Dill, former chief of staff of the Imperial general staff; Admiral Sir Charles Little, and Gen. Sir Colville Wemyss and Air Marshal A. T. Harris.

wholesaler, so that he can get another supply for the next week. In the registration, the date for which has not yet been determined, only one person will have to report for an entire family, which includes the mother, father, children and wards. Others living within a household, boarders, relatives etc., will have to register for their own books, except in such cases as invalids.

Must Tell Of Supply Held

The office of price administration made it plain that each person registering for war ration book No. 1 will be required to sign a certified statement designating the amount of sugar in his or her family's possession, and the warning was given that any false report would be subject to severe penalties under the U. S. Criminal Code ranging as high as a $10,000 fine or 10 years in prison.

It was explained that more than two pounds of sugar per person in a family would be considered a hoard, and an "appropriate number" of stamps will be removed from the registrant's book at the time of registration at the public school to account for the "extra" supply. The amount of sugar per person in the hoard will be divided by the total that can be purchased with each stamp to determine how many must be torn out of the book. In this way, it was believed, it will be "impossible" for the holder of the to strategic Smolensk over fierce Nazi opposition. According to the Soviet midnight war communique, four German infantry battalions were "partly annihilated" on the Leningrad front. In this sector the Russians threw the Germans out of eight armored forts and 45 block houses, capturing huge quantities of materiel.

Battle Near Rzhev
Violent fighting was reported just east and west of Rzhev, northwest of Moscow, where Soviet infantrymen protected by heavy tanks were closing in on the German garrison despite a deluge of Nazi artillery and machine gun fire.

The advancing Russians were reported capturing enemy pillboxes one by one. Farther south the Russians were declared to be advancing toward Smolensk in the face of desperate German counter-attacks.

Dispatches from Stockholm said the Russians have surrounded the Nazi garrison at Rzhev, 150 miles northwest of Moscow, and that the Germans have been forced to use planes to drop food and ammunition to the isolated troops. These supply planes were reported encountering extremely difficult opposition from Russian fighting craft and mobile anti-aircraft batteries.

"On Friday our troops engaged in stubborn fighting and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy in men and technical materiel," the midnight communique said.

Make Progress
"Our units made further progress. On the Leningrad front four party annihilated by our forces in attacks in which we destroyed eight armored forts and 45 block houses. More than 900 Germans were killed. "Seven German planes were shot down Friday near Moscow."

"On Thursday 34 enemy planes were destroyed while our losses were six. "Other enemy equipment destroyed on Thursday included 13 tanks, 800 trucks loaded with equipment, 180 ammunition carts, seven gasoline tanks and 36 railroad cars."

Reports from the front said Russian armies attacking on the central sector were driving both north and south of the railway leading from Vyazma toward Smolensk to cut off the avenue of retreat for the German garrison still stubbornly defending Vyazma.

The high command said that the Russian advance on this front had continued for 24 hours and that Russian planes constantly attacked enemy ground forces and shot down five German fighters.

READY FOR SPECIAL SESSION

FINAL bi-partisan agreement on a congressional reapportionment plan for Pennsylvania makes possible a brief special session of the legislature. It would have been foolish to call such a meeting to consider reapportionment, if it were immediately to be thrown into a political deadlock. Due to Governor James' insistence that the issue be settled ahead of time, there is now no reason for a partisan tug-of-war.

On the basis of the 1940 census, Pennsylvania rates 33 congressmen, a reduction of one. Neither the Republicans nor the Democrats, naturally, would welcome loss of a seat. A compromise was effected by each party yielding a district, with a new congressman to be elected at large.

The legislators should find it easy enough to enact the necessary law by the deadline date, February 28. Other legislation that may be asked by the governor, including, perhaps, measures to combat sabotage, should not require long-drawn-out debate. Partisan politics, above all, should have no place in the coming emergency session, and leaders of both parties should make sure it is excluded from the start.

A WAR ELUTION

Canadian plebiscite on conscription of men for overseas military service is something new, involving a direct popular expression on participation in a war. In the Dominion since the day it was decided to hold the plebiscite there has been a lively controversy between two political groups. One group holds that it is a mistake to take the vote—another thinks that it should be held as a matter of good faith.

The first group apparently fears that the people may decline to consent to conscription. The other group points out that the Dominion has committed itself to the people not to draft men for overseas service, and that it should now get a release from that commitment from the Canadian people.

But there is little doubt that the people will vote for conscription. The vote may be close only in the province of Quebec.

After the First World War there was much talk about giving the people direct control over declarations of war. Proposal of such a referendum once had a large following in the House at Washington. The Canadian vote will be the first action approaching the proposal of direct popular voice in military affairs the world has ever seen.

GAINING AIR SUPREMACY

Leasing by the Navy of four large American universities, each of which is to become an Annapolis of the air for the training of a total of 30,000 naval pilots annually, discloses the nation's determination and its ability to become the overwhelming master of the air.

In conjunction with the Army program for the training of 100,000 or more pilots annually, and the assembling of an ultimate air force of 2,000,000 to man the nation's production of 185,000 warplanes in the next two years, these activities will result in the steady accumulation of a reservoir of planes, pilots and ground forces that no other nation or combination of nations can match.

If this war has taught anything, it has taught that a nation, given a preponderant air force, has the nucleus of invincibility. Germany began the war thus equipped and could not be stopped until it overreached itself in Russia. Japan began the war in the South Pacific with an air edge which explains much of its temporary success. Both Germany and Japan have weaknesses that even air predominance can not forever hide. America has the potentialities of strength to follow up air predominance, once it is gained, in every line—in fighting ships, fighting infantry and the equipment for them.

Groundwork for the expression of all of these potentials has been laid out on the grandest scale in history. They will become actualities on a progressive scale in the months ahead and bring victory to America and its Allies on every front.

PAWNEE BILL PASSES ON

Death of Pawnee Bill—Maj. Gordon W. Lillie—on his Oklahoma ranch where he built up one of the largest privately-owned herds of buffalo in the world, has removed the most colorful remaining figure of the old days of the Wild West. Like many of the frontiersmen who made history with the horse, Pawnee Bill succumbed to injuries suffered in an automobile accident five years ago in which his wife was killed. He was 81.

Major Lillie is remembered best for his career in Wild West shows, which began in 1882 when he joined Buffalo Bill's show in charge of a band of Pawnee Indians and was named Pawnee Bill, and continued for thirty-five years. For years competitors, Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill consolidated their shows in 1907.

But Major Lillie played a prominent part in the settlement of Oklahoma. He took charge of the homestead movement known as the "Oklahoma Boomers" in 1888 and brought the efforts to open Oklahoma to settlement to fruition in April, 1889, when the great Oklahoma land rush took place and in a day a great cattle and Indian country became studded with homesteaders' shacks and sod houses. In 1898 he led the movement for opening of the Cherokee Strip in Northern Oklahoma which opened the last of the Oklahoma cattle country to the farmer.

In 1880 Pawnee Bill was a buffalo hunter and trapper in Western Oklahoma and narrowly escaped death at the hands of the Indians on one occasion and miraculously escaped being trampled in a buffalo stampede on another. His wife, May Lillie, was a famous cowgirl and deadshot in Pawnee Bill's show for years. He met her when his show was playing in Philadelphia, married her and in a year had trained her to become one of his star performers.

Although Pawnee Bill lived for a quarter of a century after the death of his partner, Buffalo Bill—Colonel Cody died twenty-five years ago—the old frontiersman and showman lived a quietly retired life in comfortable circumstances among his buffalo and few of the vast crowds that once flocked to see him knew that he lived until now.

Peru and Ecuador have settled their 111-year-old grievance, again. The rest of the world is in the process of settling 111 scores with the Axis.

Life is just one thing after another. They are going to quit selling automobiles, and even tires, making walking once more essential—and just at a time when there won't be any rubber heels to reduce the shock.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PROBLEM OF OVER-WEARY MOTHER

In this column I often describe with admiration mothers who are poised and serene. But I hope no mother feels I am condemning her if she has not acquired the ideal of self-control. I hope I have deep sympathy with the mother of several children when her nerves get on edge; the more so, if she also does all her own housework.

"Dear Dr. Myers:—I find many of your suggestions to work with my 4½ and 2½ yr. old boys. With others I have been unsuccessful, chiefly, I am sure, because of my own lack of self-control. I am 34; have had a number of periods of being not too well which I believe started off these attacks of nervousness, annoyance, and impatience.

"From bad to worse, recently, their real or seeming disobedience, teasing each other, or the older making the little one cry have sent me into unreasonable rages. I must control my temper for my own sake and even more for the effect on the boys. I know it in my saner moments. At the moment of aggravation one does not stop to think, but acts in anger to punish or shout effectively. It happens again next time and shouting has made no impression.

"Can you offer me any solution? It will be truly appreciated. A self-addressed envelope and three-cent stamp are enclosed.

"P. S. I would appreciate any other information which might help me raise my boys to be good useful citizens, and likeable persons. I'll read everything you might send, and try it, too!"

In the first place, young Mother, you are too hard on yourself. You are a better parent than you think you are. Who could be so tired and calm most of the time with two little children to care for in addition to doing all the work and trying always to keep an 8-room house tidy?

If your husband had to be in your place he would be wild in a week. I wish he would get you a full-time maid at once. The budget had better be cut elsewhere. Otherwise, cut off half those rooms and let untidiness occur more often in the others. Just let a lot of things go and make the meals as simple as possible for good nutrition.

When Dad comes home in the evening let him assume full responsibility for the children, even regain composure. Stop now and then during the day, regardless of disorder, stretch out on the floor or elsewhere. Take a nap when the children do. If Dad complains of disorder let him tidy up the place himself.

Solving Parent Problems
My girl, five, has no strong food dislikes, but she talks so much and fooms around and will get down from the table on the slightest pretext, spending an hour or more at her meal.

A. Tell her she will have half an hour for her meal, that at the end of this time her food will disappear and that she will have no other food till the next regular meal. Then without further warning, make your word good.

The World and the Mud Puddles

CONVICTION OF CRIME

One night burglars broke into a grain store and carried away with them a 630-pound safe. The next morning, the police followed automobile tire tracks and found the safe hidden in the river bottom. The safe was locked.

The following night two officers staked out the safe. Shortly after dark three men drove up in a car.

When they started hammering on the safe to open it, the officers surprised them. Two men got away but the third was arrested. There was no further proof that the burglar had participated in the burglary and he remained for a conviction. The criminal Court of Appeals of Oklahoma upheld the sentence of two years in the State penitentiary for burglary in the second degree. Said the Court:

"The mere possession of property recently stolen is not sufficient to convict the possessor of burglary of it. But when this possession is unexplained and is supplemented with other facts inconsistent with the idea that the possession is honest, it then becomes a question of fact for the jury to pass upon the guilt or innocence of the defendant."

Since it is not often that the burglary is observed by eye witnesses, circumstantial evidence is usually resorted to. One of the most important circumstances is the unexplained possession of the booty.

A high-tempered young man stole a pretty and smart daughter of a prominent and wealthy farmer in the county. The farmer wasn't pleased over the elopement, so he took his pen in hand and wrote a letter to his daughter:

The letter fell into the hands of Cora's husband, who happened to be

Dear Miss Markel: Please tell me whether a "thank you" letter should be sent to a hostess who has entertained me only for an evening in her home?—D. N.

Answer: A "bread-and-butter" letter should be sent without fail, to the hostess or host at whose house you have stayed overnight. But it is neither customary nor necessary to send such a letter following an evening's entertainment. If you and your hostess are sticklers for convention you may pay her a "party call" within a few days after her entertainment, but this courtesy has now gone out to a great extent. It is now disregarded by most moderns, but there are some—especially those with a background of excellent breeding—who show their courtesy by promptly calling and leaving cards for the host and hostesses who have thoughtfully included them in their list of guests.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing self-addressed 3-cent stamped envelope

Parachutists May Change Our Warfare
War Science Becoming Individualized
Personal Prowess Gains Recognition

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—War is being individualized, somewhat as it used to be in olden days, when person prowess counted more than it has in the last few generations of fighting at long range, with opposing forces altogether too far apart to see the whites of one another's eyes or jab and hash each other up with spears and broadswords.

Aviation and tanks have had a lot to do toward effecting the transition backward, in the direction of armed strife's earlier styles. An airman naturally has to operate pretty independently, in action against the foe, and tanks aren't very numerous manned per tank either.

At sea big war craft, like cruisers and battleships, carry sizeable crews, but naval experts are beginning to hint at a suspicion that the utility of these larger vessels is declining, partly due to the plane's development, but due also to the activities of submarines and of lively little destroyers on the ocean's surface.

Of course even a destroyer or a sub carries a more considerable personnel than a plane, but nothing to compare with the numbers that battleships and cruisers tote. Yet it's noticeable that most of the current war's reported sinkings of transports, plane carriers and merchant shipping have been attributed, not to the bigger fighting boats, but to flyers, pewee destroyers and subs.

Indeed, some of the naval levitations have fallen victims to the mosquitoes overhead and roundabout and to the minnows underneath.

It likewise is observable that, when U-boats are troublesome off shore or along some sea lane still farther off, cruisers and battleships aren't dispatched to dispose of 'em; no, the job's assigned to midgets in the destroyer class.

They'll Be Tough

Naturally soldiers always have been trained with a view of making 'em physically tough but, during the era of long-range hostilities, it wasn't considered necessary to educate 'em for hand-to-hand encounters, because they very seldom occurred.

The other day, though, Navy Secretary Frank Knox announced the initiation of a course of instruction for his department's aviators, which will include their preparation for rough-and-tumble scuffling—wrestling, slugging, gouging, even biting in an emergency. These boys will need such accomplishments, it's explained, as they come down in parachutes, for example, right in their enemies' midst.

Frank says he intends to graduate 30,000 of this type of combatants yearly.

Now, that just goes to show to what an extent, as previously remarked, the art of warfare is being individualized.

Frank's bunch will be concerned on until they'll be ready to go it alone, each, like knights of yore. It's going to be so intensive (Continued On Page Seven)

PURPOSE

Oh, what may lie before us there is none of us can tell.

But all that lies behind us we know very, very well.

And it's this for which we're fighting: To make certain to the last.

The blessed rights of freedom to the children shall be passed.

For all that lies behind us we'll brave all that lies before.

The tears, the toll, the grieving to keep wide the schoolhouse door.

For communion and confession, birthday feasts, and weddings gay.

And all the joys of freedom we are in the field today.

For the peace that lies behind us we'll shun brave what lies before.

On earth, in sky, and ocean until peril is no more.

For the youngsters' music lessons for the right to own and build.

We shall battle down the future until every gun is stilled.

Politics And Patriotism

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7

WHEN politics and patriotism are combined, the result is a very bad mixture indeed. This is why the recent "breast-beating" pronouncements by Chairman Eddie Flynn of the Democratic National Committee evoked less than no enthusiasm. They seem to have met with almost unanimous disapproval.

BRIEFLY, Mr. Flynn's plan is to link Mr. Roosevelt's scheduled February 22 address to the nation upon the war situation with a series of party dinners at which funds are to be raised to liquidate the committee's $600,000 debt (increasing at the rate of $5,000 a month) and put it in position to "function effectively" in what Mr. Flynn tells us will be the most important Congressional election in our history. This hardly seems to harmonize with the very sound idea long ago promulgated by the President and echoed by various Administration spokesmen, that politics should be adjourned during the war.

It seems a very clear effort to cash in upon a patriotic address for a partisan purpose. Barred, because of the appearance of open partisanship, from holding their usual Jackson Day money-raising banquets, the Democratic politicians are preparing to use Washington's Birthday and the President's talk to the whole nation for the same purpose. One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Writer

A man with a bald head and manufactured biceps dropped in to give us a note on a youth movement.

We asked him how old was a youth. He cackled he would ask his father. His father is the head youth of the movement.

He said he saw eye to eye with dimming vision and his favorite Washington personality on youth.

He said "we kids have got to take over and we will just as soon as my gouts clear up."

We asked him if George Washington was a youth. He said he thought he was in his younger days.

We asked him about Methuselah. He said his father handled all side references to Methuselah on alternate Tuesdays and Tuesdays.

He said that the youth movement barred old men unless they could prove that they were as young as they felt.

He said most old youths felt funny—like they were all loose wires and busted phonograph records inside.

Wooden Nose Of a

Haney Furniture Company Has Interesting Display
In Window

One would hardly associate the furniture manufacturing business with defense, yet the Virginia Lincoln Furniture Company, manufacturers of high grade maple furniture, has evolved a process of using laminated wood in the manufacture of noses for bombing planes, and other parts of the fuselage, thus relieving the desperate demand for aluminum. Two pieces used in the manufacture of Bristol Bombers for the British are on display in the window of the Haney Furniture Company on The Diamond, and are attracting considerable interest.

One piece is the nose of a Bristol Bomber, taken from the stock of the Bristol Aircraft Corporation of Bristol, Va., and Belleville, Ont., and bears the serial plate, which identifies it thus, as an "Anson" model, made for the Federal Aircraft Co.

The other piece on display, is evidently the part which surrounds one of the fighting blisters on the top or bottom of the bombing machine. It was manufactured for the Canadian Car and Foundry Co., of Canada.

Use of aluminum in the manufacture of planes as the industry expanded was due to its extreme lightness and strength, not necessarily for armament, as machine gun bullets will rip through light aluminum very readily. In the case of a bomber, all excess weight is eliminated so that most of the lifting power can be devoted to carrying the load of bombs and gasoline. Thus the process of using wood as discovered by the Lincoln people is a real contribution to defense.

This laminated wood, on display here, is extremely light, is waterproof, and will not warp. The bomb sighter lies on his stomach in this nose part, and aims for the target through the bomb sight, which is placed in the bottom.

Cruiser Police And Detectives

Results

All auto thefts here recently were solved during the past 24 hours by the arrest by Detectives John Moore and D. J. Thomas of five youths and John F. Daugherty, 25, of Morton street. There was no connivance between the youths who now are in custody of juvenile court, and Daugherty.

Daugherty reportedly confessed stealing the car of A. C. Weir of Wampum, from West Washington street recently. He drove it against a pole at West Washington and Lower street. The car was wrecked, pole damaged, and Daugherty was slightly injured, police claim.

Last night he reportedly took the car of Robert Houk of South Walnut street from Produce street, then drove to Grant street where he got out of the car.

Cruiser Police H. L. Richards and Pinner learned of the car having been driven and parked in Grant street. They also learned of several persons who had been in the car. This information was given to Detectives Moore and Thomas. They arrested Daugherty. He reportedly confessed both car thefts to Detectives Chief R. A. Criswell.

The preceding night, police in a cruiser, chased a gang of South Side youths, one of whom lost a cap. Detectives Moore and Thomas were assigned to the case. They questioned five youths, obtained a confession and Chief of Police W. G. McMullen placed the boys in custody of juvenile court.

The police chief said today he would charge Daugherty with the theft of the cars owned by Weir and Houk.

action failed to knock out all of the gun emplacements erected by the Japanese.

A three-hour heavy enemy artillery barrage appeared to be the signal for a concentrated attempt by the Japanese to knock out some of the American fortifications which to date have prevented the invaders from making use of Manila Bay.

Aim At Smaller Forts

Since the fire was concentrated on Fort Drum, Fort Hughes and Fort Mills—all of them in Manila Bay—it appeared that Japan is seeking to knock out the guns of the smaller fortified islands before attempting a large scale assault on the main fortress on Corregidor.

To date Corregidor has prevented the Japanese from outflanking MacArthur's embattled army on Bataan Peninsula. Aerial attacks by heavy Japanese bombers early last month failed to silence Corregidor's guns and cost the Japanese a total of at least 20 planes in six attacks.

Following is the text of the War Department's 95th communique:

Day's Communique

"Philippine Theater—Concealed enemy batteries near the southeastern shore of Manila Bay bombarded our harbor defenses with heavy artillery for three hours.

"Most of the fire was concentrated on Fort Drum, but some was directed against Fort Mills and Fort Hughes. No material damage was done. Our guns returned the fire with undetermined results.

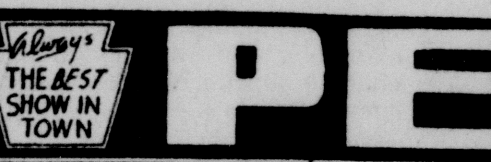

"It has been determined that Lieut. Gen. Susumu Morioka is in command of Japanese forces in Manila Bay and on the Cavite shore of Manila Bay.

"There was little infantry action on Bataan Peninsula during the past 24 hours, but enemy artillery fire was heavy.

"Hostile dive bombers were active over our lines. Two of our fighter planes engaged four enemy dive bombers, shooting down one of them. Neither of our planes was damaged.

"Netherlands Indies—Eight American P-40 pursuit planes were attacked by a greatly superior force of Japanese fighters and bombers near Bali. At least three enemy planes were shot down. One of our planes was destroyed and another is missing.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

IS LOST AT SEA

could discern no signs of life, and that "salvage operations are continuing but hope has been abandoned."

Three Survivors

Washington, Feb. 7.—Secretary of Navy Frank Knox today said that the three men who survived the sinking of the U. S. submarine S-26, off Panama Jan. 24, were Lieut. Commander Earl C. Hawk, Saugerties, N. Y., chief officer, Lt. Robert E. M. Ward, Antioch, Calif., and Joe B. Hurst, Adam, Okla., first class seaman.

They were in the bridge of the sub and were thrown clear of the wreckage.

The submarine sank immediately after the collision, according to Knox's report.

Knox did not disclose the number of lives lost nor the names of those who perished.

It was stated however, that "the next of kin of the casualties have been notified."

Rescue operations, although begun immediately under the direction of Rear Admiral Frank H. Sadler, commandant of the 15th naval district, and Capt. Thomas J. Doyle, were futile, the secretary said.

Three of Crew Ashore

Also listed as survivors were three crew members who were ashore receiving medical attention when the submarine left on its final tragic trip.

They are:
First Class Gunner's Mate William K. Taylor, of Washington, D. C.; First Class Seaman Phillip W. Doerfer, of Washington, State (no city listed), and ship's cook, Third Class, William J. Jeavons, address unknown.

Memorial ceremonies were held at sea this morning over the spot where the submarine rests on the bottom. The commandant of the Fifteenth Naval District and other high ranking officers were present.

Ship Blacked Out

The accident occurred as the protecting escort ship, completely blacked out, prepared to leave the submarine. Both craft changed their course, it was said, and at the last minute it was seen that a collision was inevitable.

All necessary steps able to be taken were taken, it was emphasized, but the collision could not be avoided.

The surface ship struck the submarine on the starboard side, and the latter sank in a matter of seconds.

The surface ship immediately picked up three survivors thrown into the water.

As soon as the accident was reported, every available rescue vessel rushed to the scene. Six Navy divers were flown to Balboa from Washington and immediately went into action to establish contact.

Although some faint sounds were heard by the rescuers, there was little possibility of success at any time, due to the strong currents and the absence of landmarks.

lated yesterday, that the N. E. I. naval fleet had been totally destroyed.

The Ambona base is the second most powerful naval base in the Netherlands Indies, ranking only below the Surabaya base, which now has experienced three Japanese air attacks.

Ambon In Jap Hands

The communique said the greater part of Ambon Island is "practically in Japanese hands."

Ambon, in the Moluccan Sea between Celebes and New Guinea, is the fifth Netherlands Indies point to be occupied since the start of the invasion on Jan. 4.

Today's communique admitted that Pontianak, capital of Dutch West Borneo, has been "completely occupied." Previously the Japanese took Tarakan Island off the east coast of Borneo, the East Borneo Port of Balikpapan, the Menado region of north Celebes and the Kendari area of southeast Celebes.

There is a vast territory estimated at a million square miles in the central portion of Australia which are regarded as uninhabitable.

Spanish War Vets Will Observe Maine Day On February 14

Annual Observance Of Event
Which Led To Spanish-
American War Planned

With the appointment of committees from Col. Daniel Leasure Camp, United Spanish War veterans, and from its auxiliary, plans are under way for the annual observance of Maine Day, which will take place with a dinner and program, in the Y. W. C. A., on Saturday evening, February 14, at 6:30 o'clock.

Maine Day has the same significance to the boys of '98 as Pearl Harbor will have to the current generation, and is observed each year with a dinner and program by the Spanish War veterans.

The general committee in charge of arrangements for the event is composed of: Charles C. Wilson, general chairman, M. G. Wood, H. T. Otto, M. L. Porter, Rees Lewis, Mrs. Rose Porter, Mrs. Fred Hurlbous, Mrs. A. L. Whitacre, Mrs. H. J. Scott, and Mrs. Clinton K. Myers.

Daily Dozen

(From The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"Home, Sweet Home" is not "Home, Safe Home."

Home accidents annually kill 33,000 Americans.

Add 4,850,000 disabling accidents to this number.

From which result 140,000 permanent disabilities.

Falls cause the largest number of deaths—19,000 annually.

Articles left on stairs and loose rugs cause many falls.

Falls are caused by stumbling over furniture in the dark.

Children are frequently the victim of home accidents.

They play with fire, turn up gas, spill boiling water, etc.

Home accidents can be prevented by a little intelligent care.

An orderly house lessens the chances of home accidents.

Home accidents tend to weaken national defense.

What's What At A Glance

that he reckons he can handle only 30,000 of 'em at a time. Thirty thousand is a sizeable staff of aviators, but it isn't so huge a figure contrasted with the 7,000,000 merely ordinary, old-fashioned troops mentioned by war Secretary Henry L. Stimson as his goal.

Frank will have only 300,000 of 'em if he keeps it up for ten years, and 300,000 isn't so vast an aggregation alongside of 7,000,000, expressed in purely arithmetical terms.

But oh, what personal wildcats this crowd of Frank Knox's will be!

Ancient And Modern

It'll be a reversion to the middle ages, with modern improvements, strictly up to date.

One lone knight, in armor, with his lance couched and hollering his battle cry, could dash, on horseback, into two or three regiments of common kernal and put the whole outfit to rout in short order.

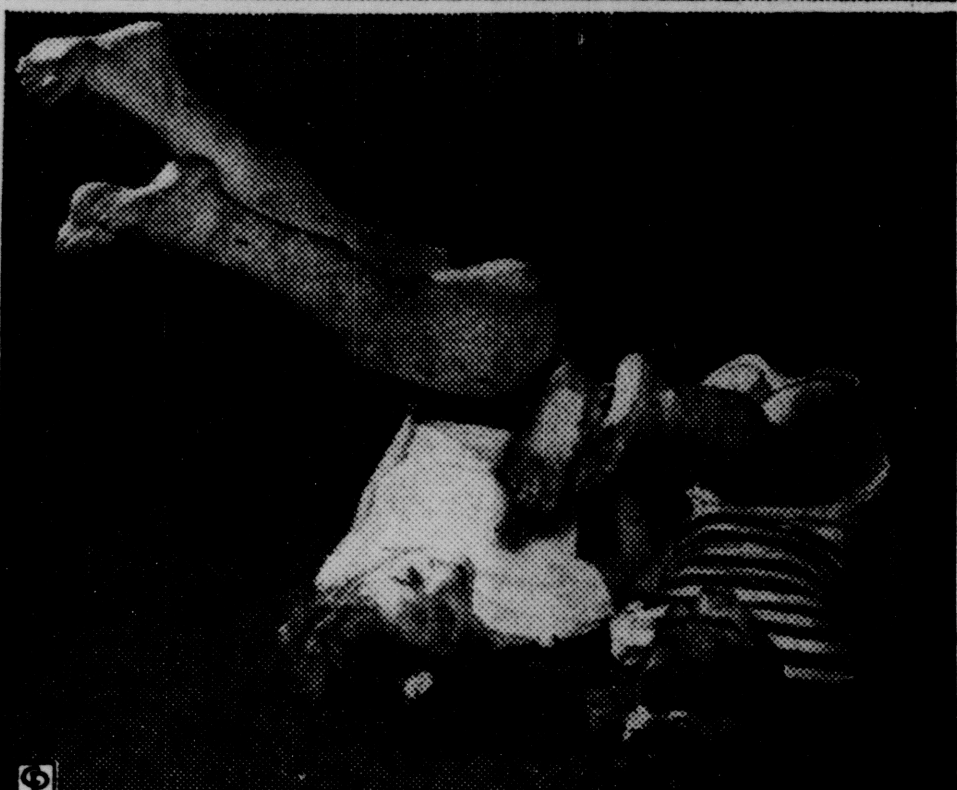

One of Frank Knox's graduates, in a plane's cockpit, rather than on an obsolete saddle, on some Dobbin's rump, will swoop down out of the blue, scattering bombs in every direction into a horde of Nazis, Japs or Fascists, scratch, kick and bite 'em, and, as they streak it, take possession of the entire field.

The course of training is scheduled to occupy a year per candidate. At the year's end, another 36,000 will be inducted and the program will be continued as long as the war lasts. Maybe it will become a permanency then. It will be a formidable corps to have on hand for the benefit of possible future wars. We thought, the last time, that we wouldn't have any more, but not many folk are so optimistic now. Secretary Knox has it all worked out.

FORMER RESIDENT INJURED

Mrs. Mont Richards, of West Washington street, has received word that Mrs. Jane Jones Ent, of Kersey, formerly of this city, is confined to the hospital at Ridgway. While automobile riding Monday, her car skidded and overturned, pinning her beneath. She sustained a fractured pelvis and other injuries.

NOW ITS MUSCLES FOR DEFENSE!

Since a healthful nation is an important asset in the war effort, American mothers are urged to see that they and their children get plenty of healthful exercise. Mrs. Walter Thornton, wife of the head of a nationally-known models agency, is pictured above in two poses teaching her six-year-old daughter, Daryl Virginia, simple setting-up exercises.

IMPORTANT DECISION

Judge W. Walter Braham has just handed down a decision which it is thought may result later a "leading case." The opinion was one in the case of Wyatt R. Campbell versus the Neshannock Presbyterian church. The opinion is a lengthy one but the crux of it is the restraining of the church from insisting on the use of its equipment at any funeral conducted in the cemetery of the church.

The case arose out of the refusal of the church to permit Mr. Campbell, a lot owner in the church cemetery and also an undertaker from using his own equipment in conducting a funeral. The equipment consists of a tent, lowering devices, artificial grass and drapes for the interior of the tent.

The church contended that it had the right to prohibit the use of any equipment but its own. Mr. Campbell contended that it did not have the right and brought a bill of equity.

In a decree nisi (temporary) Judge Braham ruled in favor of the defendant saying it had the right to restrict the use of any equipment but its own. Mr. Campbell took exceptions to the opinion and after hearing the exceptions Judge Braham handed down the final order.

In the opinion Judge Braham says that the prohibition of the use of any other equipment but the cemetery's is an invasion of the property rights of a lot owner. He points out that the cemetery does not select the undertaker, nor the casket, nor any of the accoutrements and that is just as reasonable that the lot owner select what equipment is to be used as a matter of sentiment. He states in his opinion that his conclusions in the decree nisi were incorrect and reverses himself. The final order applies to Mr. Campbell as a lot owner and not as an undertaker.

Another opinion and order was handed down in the case of Jean Symington Baker versus James Volant Baker. He orders the master in the case to take additional testimony.

The Great Game Of Politics

According to printed reports, Mr. Flynn, Treasurer Reynolds and other committee officials went to the White House last week and conferred with the President on this business of raising money. Mr. Roosevelt, it was reported, discussed the question in detail with them and made several suggestions. It is not known whether he specifically approved this Flynn plan or not, but it is a bad plan and ought to be discouraged. Several thoughts suggest themselves in this connection.

ONE, of course, is that the President of the United States ought not to be dealing with the paltry problem of raising money for a party committee while as leader of the nation he is directing the greatest war in history. Another is that no partisan tinge should be attached to the patriotic address he plans for February 22. Another is that this is a splendid time for professional politicians to keep out of the White House and away from the President. The mere fact that they have access to him at a moment such as this is disturbing. It is hard to imagine anything that could detract more from the Presidential pretensions of unconcern about politics.

IF the Democratic Committee is in debt, let it stay in debt, or find some way of pulling itself out without enlisting the aid and taking up the time of the President. If, with its present organization, the committee has a monthly deficit of $5,000, let it cut down its organization and reduce its expenses drastically and immediately. From 1921 to 1924, when the Democratic party had no real sources of revenue, the Hon. Cordell Hull, now Secretary of State and then National Chairman, conducted the party affairs from two rooms in an old office building instead of occupying the whole floor of an expensive hotel. His staff consisted of one stenographer and a publicity man who got $25 a week instead of $25,000 a year.

THE fact is that in recent years these committees have become swollen all out of proportion both as to size and cost. Now they are both broke, which is not a bad thing at all. No one seriously wants to do away with the Congressional elections next fall. In the first place, it cannot be done. In the second place, it should not be done. However, Mr. Flynn's contention that this will be the most important Congressional election in our history is nonsense. There will be no issue of foreign policy in the campaign. Every serious candidate, Republican as well as Democratic, will be pledged to uphold the hands of the President and support every measure designed to push the war to a successful conclusion. No one who checked short on these things would stand election. Everybody knows that, and the suggestion that these elections are of paramount importance is absurd. The issue in the districts will be personal and local. Now that the country is actually at war, Mr. Roosevelt is as certain to get support for all war measure from the Republicans as he is from the Democrats. Mr. Flynn accuses the Democrats of being partisan, and perhaps they are. But Mr. Flynn is pursuing his own partisan purposes behind an exceedingly transparent screen of patriotism.

IT is not a pretty exhibition. There is no President to choose next fall and not the slightest reason either side should have a large staff, expensive headquarters and big campaign fund. In fact, the country might be a lot better off if both national committees dried up and did not function at all for the next two years. This is no time for the professional politicians to protrude themselves and their unsavory money troubles. That they cannot pay their debts may be tough on the people to whom they owe money, but what has the country to do with that? The really bad feature is that these men could so easily get into the White House with their petty pleas and plans for the party treasury. That is enough to cause real concern.

Evening, February 12

At a meeting of the Boy Scout banquet committee, final arrangements were made for the annual Boy Scout banquet, which is to be held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Thursday evening, February 12, at 6:30 o'clock.

The banquet is in the nature of a tureen dinner, and all scouts, scouts and friends of scouts are invited. Indications show that a crowd of 600 or more will be present.

Each troop is responsible for their own menu, with the exception of dessert, milk and coffee. Friends of scouts should arrange to accompany the troop in which they are interested.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

URGE FARMERS TO PRODUCE OWN PORK

It is the patriotic duty of every farmer to produce as much of his own food as he possibly can. Pork is one item that he can manufacture right on his own farm. Farmers having open sows or gilts can breed them now. They will farrow in May or June when the weather is mild. The sow and litter can be put out immediately on a pasture which will produce a lot of cheap feed for them, and will be reasonably free from worm infestation.

Of course these pigs will not be heavy enough for the high-priced market in early fall. Instead, they will be ready for slaughter in late November or December. The weather is then more favorable for home butchering.

This procedure is right in line with the government's request for more pork. Although most of these hogs will be used in home consumption and will not go to market, it will reduce the amount that would be purchased by farmers, thereby increasing the supply of pork for our own armed forces and our allies.

MORE FOOD CAN BE 4-H CLUB GOAL

More food! That's our government's request. More pork. More poultry and eggs. More milk. These are needed by our own armed forces and our allies. Lawrence County 4-H club members can make their contribution on their own farms.

Increased production of pork and lard is required for shipment across the seas. Many 4-H club members prefer pig club work. These boys and girls can well do their part for defense by feeding as many pigs as they are equipped to handle.

Poultry and egg are on the list of essentials. Here, too, is an opportunity for 4-H club members. There are several types of 4-H poultry club work—the feeding of capons, the feeding and marketing of broilers, and flock management clubs, including egg production.

Many boys and girls now in poultry clubs could increase the number of birds with their present equipment and still not be overcrowded.

4-H Dairy club members cannot increase their contribution as much or as rapidly as that in other lines of work. However, dairy club members with cows in production can aid defense by feeding to produce the maximum amount of milk and butterfat. There are enough cows in Lawrence county to produce the required increase in milk production, if they are fed and managed properly. Suggestions on feeding dairy cows may be secured from the Agricultural Extension office, No. 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

REASONS GIVEN FOR LOW TURKEY HATCH

A big problem that confronts the turkey breeder and the hatcherymen is the low hatchability of turkey eggs. This seems to vary with strains of turkeys. The eggs from one strain of turkeys may hatch up to 70 per cent and even 80 per cent of all eggs set for the season. Then eggs from other strains may hatch less than 50 per cent. This explains why turkey breeders must charge 10 or 15 cents more for poulters of certain strains.

If the hatchability of turkey eggs is low, be alert for one of the following reasons:

Individual turkeys or strains of turkeys may have inherited a weak condition of sperm in the male or ova in the female. The solution here is to change individual breeders or try another strain.

Eggs might not have been cared for properly from the time they are laid until they are placed in the incubator.

The incubator may not be efficient or the operator may not know how to operate it properly.

The ration fed to the breeding flock can often cause low hatchability in turkey eggs. It might pay dividends to get hold of a good turkey ration from the Agricultural Extension office.

Flock management has an influence on hatchability. Over-fat breeders and excessive fighting among the males may lower the percentage of eggs hatched.

PURCHASE SPRAY MATERIALS EARLY

Potato growers should order their copper spray materials early. Copper sulphate for potato spraying can be secured if orders are made immediately. Those that delay may find themselves without materials when they need them during the growing season.

In estimating the material you will need, it is well to plan on the basis of 125 gallons per acre of 8-8-100 Bordeaux mixture. This is 10 pounds of copper sulphate per acre for each application, or if you make eight applications during the season, 80 pounds of copper sulphate for the season per acre. If you make more than 8 applications you must increase this needed amount. The important thing is to make your needs known now.

CONSERVING SUGAR

Now that the nation's sweet tooth is undergoing a little discipline, many a homemaker is working out ways to make her sugar supply go further. In the following paragraphs, Dr. Louise Stanley, chief of the United States Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Home Economics, makes some suggestions along this line, says Miss Bonita Gordon, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county.

"Restricting retail sugar purchases may be a bit inconvenient at first," says Doctor Stanley. "But it can hardly be regarded as a kitchen catastrophe.

"In the first place, we can get along on a lot less sugar than we have been eating—and still have nutritious meals that taste good.

"For, as far as actual food value is concerned—sugar is not an indispensable item in the diet for most of us. Sugar supplies food energy in an exceedingly palatable form. But as far as energy from food goes, any reduction in sugar can easily be taken care of by increasing quantities of other energy-giving foods in the diet. There are many other inexpensive energy-giving foods that supply, in addition, valuable vitamins and minerals. Whole-grain cereals are one such food group. Starch vegetables and dried fruits are others.

Although sugar is a quicker source of energy than most foods—that is it can be digested and used by the body rapidly—most of us who do not work at hard physical labor for long periods of time have no special need for quick energy."

Therefore, Doctor Stanley concludes, cutting down on sugar means little more to most of us than cutting down on a flavor that is particularly pleasing. And with a little thought, she believes, the homemaker can cut the sugar in her meals the necessary amount in comparatively painless ways.

Whether the weekly sugar available to each person arrived at by the office of price administration is three-fourths of a pound or slightly more or less—that is quite a bit of sweetness. Three-fourths of a pound is about 1½ cups—a week amounts to a little over 10 level teaspoons a day.

Plans for diets that are nutritious, satisfying, and palatable, worked out by the Bureau of Home Economics for years of normal sugar supplies have included 50 to 60 pounds of sweets a year. This figure, in addition to sugar, counts sirups and commercially prepared preserves. And it doesn't mean that the same amount is recommended for everyone in the family. Quantities suggested in the diet plans range from less than five pounds a year for infants to 90 pounds for very active men.

Although these diet plans use less refined sugar than has customarily been bought by the Nation's families in the past few years, the amount can be further reduced. Here are some suggestions.

Keep a weather eye open for out and out sugar wastes. One of the most obvious sugar wastes, of course, is the undissolved sugar in the bottom of a cup of coffee or tea. Other sugar wastes are over-sweetened foods, cake failures—or failures of habit—whether you could be just as happy with half a teaspoon or so less. If the breakfast cereal is topped with dried fruit, you need less sugar than for plain cereal.

In fact, when it comes to eating less sugar, we might take a tip from the diets that are recommended for children. Little sugar is given to a child early in life—so he can learn to like the natural taste of foods undisguised. And his sweets are kept simple—served to him either for dessert or just shortly after a meal. Sweets are such concentrated foods that they tend to take the edge off the appetite—make children or adults less hungry for other foods they need.

Try eating fewer rich desserts—fewer pastries and very sweet cakes. Fresh fruits are among the most nutritious and desirable of desserts.

One of the best sources of natural sugar, a pudding made with raisins sugar. A pudding made with raisins sugar, for instance, needs less sugar for sweetening than a plain pudding.

Finally, suggests Doctor Stanley, add variety and supplement the weekly white refined sugar with other naturally sweet foods. Available now are honey, cane sirups, molasses, sorghum, corn sirup and maple sirup.

When honey is used merely to sweeten, it may be used instead of sugar, cup for cup. For it is of about equal sweetness. If you use honey in cakes or quick breads, you have to make certain other allowances. A formula worked out by the Bureau of Home Economics is this: quick-bread recipe the liquid in the recipe one-half. If you substitute medium thick honey for half the sugar in a cake or quickbread—reduce the liquid in the recipe one-fourth. Bake all such cakes and quickbreads at a moderate temperature to prevent too rapid browning and to keep the good honey flavor.

Sorghum, molasses, and maple sirup all have their own characteristic flavors. For all, there are available delicious recipes worked out that yield delicious cakes, puddings, and cookies. Cakes made with much sirup are heavier than sugar cakes and they usually stay moist longer. Sirups are especially good in gingerbreads and spice cakes.

Sirups, like honey, may be used merely for sweetening—on cereals, in puddings, sandwich fillings, sauces. It takes about 1½ cups of these sirups to equal one cup of sugar in sweetness.

Corn sirup is half as sweet as sugar. It also may be used as the only sweetening in many ways. When it is used in beverages, puddings, custards, and sauces in the place of sugar—the other liquids in the recipe must be reduced by one-fourth.

Recent studies made in the laboratories of the Bureau of Home Economics show that corn sirup may be used in standard recipes for muffins, plain cake and drop cookies. The corn sirup may be substituted, measure for measure, for the sugar specified, and the liquid in the recipe reduced one-third. These products are less sweet than those made with sugar. The cakes are especially good if served as a cottage pudding with a sauce or with a sweet icing. The cookies are good frosted or unfrosted and served as accompaniments to a dish of sweetened fruit or pudding.

Corn sirup may also be used in candies, icings, and mousses; but for these, special recipes are necessary.

HE COULD STAND A LITTLE "BEEF"

Louis Harper of Ogden, Utah, is trying to figure out just what manner of bull Shorty is. Shorty is a year-old calf, but, as Harper demonstrates, above, he is only 28 inches high and weighs only 180 pounds. At that rate, he may become a full-sized bull by the time he's about 50.

Your Federal Income Tax

No. 30
GAINS OR LOSSES; CAPITAL ASSETS

The term "capital assets" is defined as the property held by the taxpayer (whether or not connected with his trade or business), but does not include stock in trade of the taxpayer or property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business, or property used in the trade or business, of a character which is subject to the allowance for depreciation; or an obligation of the United States, its possessions, a State or Territory or political subdivision thereof, or of the District of Columbia, issued on or after March 1, 1941, on a discount basis and payable without interest at a fixed maturity date not exceeding one year from the date of issue.

Capital gains and losses are classified as "short term" (applicable to capital assets held for 18 months or less) and "long-term" (applicable to capital assets held for more than 18 months). Such gains and losses are taken into consideration in the percentages shown on the return, based upon the period of time during which the assets were held.

Short-term capital losses are allowable only to the extent of short-term capital gains. However, any net short-term capital loss (not in excess of the net income for the taxable year) may be carried over to the succeeding year and applied against the short-term capital gains not already offset by short-term capital losses in such year. The carryover is restricted to one year. In the case of a net long-term capital gain or loss, an alternative tax is imposed with respect to a gain if such tax is less than the normal tax and surtax on net income, and in the event of a loss, such alternative tax is imposed if greater than the normal tax and surtax on net income.

Where a taxpayer derives a net long-term capital gain and computes his tax under section 117(c) (2) of the Internal Revenue Code, relating to alternative taxes, the base for determining the 15 percent limitation on the charitable contributions deduction provided by section 23(c) of the Code and the earned income credit provided by section 25(a)(3) of the Code is "net income."

Where a taxpayer sustains a net long-term capital loss and computes his tax under section 117(c) (2) of the Code, the base for determining the charitable contributions deduction is "ordinary net income"—that is, "net income" plus the amount of the net long-term capital loss—and the base for determining the earned income credit is "ordinary net income" as adjusted for the charitable contributions deduction.

A person charged with murder is more likely to be convicted than a person charged with any other crime, the census bureau reports. However, the chances are very good that the conviction will be for something less serious than first-degree murder. In 1940 there were 8,208 homicides in the United States and only 121 legal executions.

Educator Seeks National Dental Health Program

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG—Sound, adequately financed dental health programs for every community in the nation is the aim of Dr. Lon W. Morrey, director of public education for the American Dental Association.

Addressing the second Pennsylvania Health Institute at Harrisburg, he emphasized that figures released by National Selective Service headquarters reveal that "the largest single cause for rejections was failure to meet dental health standards."

Dental decay, Dr. Morrey said, is the most prevalent of childhood diseases.

"An examination of 1,500,000 school children in 26 states in 1933-34 by the American Dental Association and the U. S. Public Health Service," he declared, "revealed that at least 90 per cent of American children of school age suffer from dental decay."

"There can be little argument," he added, "that every community in this country needs a soundly conceived, adequately financed and ably executed dental health program."

Portland Finds Fun
For 37,500 Fighters

PORTLAND, Me.—Portland has set what is believed to be a New England record with the city's provision of entertainment for more than 37,500 service men in the last 15 weeks.

Starting originally with a $3,000 donation from the Greater Portland U.S.O. committee, and aided by additional donations from individuals together with some income from its facilities, the Portland civilian recreation committee for service men has been able to spend $3,738.48 for equipment and services and still has $2,212.32 on hand for its work, a recent report of Walter G. Davis, treasurer, showed.

The sum will carry activities of the committee through April, he estimated. The Greater Portland U.S.O. committee will probably provide another $1,000 which would carry the committee's work through to the first of June, he said.

Mrs. Alice C. Godfrey, executive hostess for the Service Men's club, maintained by the committee in the Chamber of Commerce building, reported that small dances have been held there nightly, with 150 to 200 attending, while a total of 17 dances from 400 to 700 persons each, with music by a ship's band, have been held.

The club has distributed 125 passes to motion picture theatres each week, a total of 1875, and has issued 75 passes to community centers. It received more invitations than could be filled for service men to be guests on Christmas Day; has filled many requests for service men to be guests at Sunday dinners, has arranged for 275 men to be guests at clubs; has answered 250 inquiries of men seeking overnight or permanent lodging; has helped 165 service men with personal problems, and has sent 25 service men to special dancing classes, Mrs. Godfrey reported.

Lieut. Ernest H. Hale, U. S. N. morale officer, newly stationed in Portland, told the committee that he has found that "Portland people are bending over backward to do things for boys in the service."

CAMP SHELBY, Miss.—A dose of statistics is what the Camp Shelby doctors are prescribing as a cure for the jittery affecting mothers who worry about sons who have joined the khaki.

Taken any time of day, the dose is this: When Camp Shelby population was at its peak—almost 50,000 soldiers—last May, illness was so rare that less than one per cent of the soldiers required admission to the base hospital.

The figures for the week ending May 31, taken from a soldier population of 49,377, show that only 388 or .8 per cent, were sent to the white cots during that period.

Colonel Thomas L. Ferenbaugh, camp surgeon, noted that 40 of the 388 were injury cases, the remainder were classified as "disease patients."

Learn to Be Calm in Air Raid

A nun keeps a watchful eye on these youngsters at the Nazareth Nursery of St. Francis Xavier Church in New York City. They are learning how to keep cool if an air raid comes to New York. Drills teach the youngsters how to march to places of safety, to play quiet games or to listen to stories. (Central Press)

OGETHORPE UNIVERSITY, Ga.—All's quiet on the Georgia campuses, but it's an uncomfortable quiet for Betty Co-Ed. When Miss Georgia of 1941, who still remembers strutting the boardwalk at Atlantic City, has to settle down to her knitting you can call it a national emergency.

Bette Shephard, a co-ed at Oglethorpe, who was that Miss Georgia in 1941, finds herself in the same boat of hundreds of other college girls.

The co-eds all face the same choice—time on their hands or knitting on their hands. A full time book is a relic of the past, so they have chosen the knitting.

From all over the state the volunteers flock to the army and deplete the campus.

Eligibles Go First
The most eligible males are the first to go. The Big Men on the Campus are now taking their orders from Uncle Sam.

From the Oglethorpe campus have come the football managers, football players, the editor of the year book, and the editor of the school paper. Not even the young professors are left behind for the consolation of the co-eds.

The boys left on the campus have to buckle down to a quickened pace in education, with little time to appreciate the advantage of an open field.

What is the deserted co-ed doing about it?
What They're Doing
She is knitting, she is rolling bandages, she is going to Red Cross classes. And—occasionally, she lets off steam by smashing a few articles made in Japan.

Some of the sororities require their members to put in a certain number of hours each day at Red Cross headquarters, and knitting goes to every class. The Alpha Tau chapter of Kappa Delta at Oglethorpe is making plans for a two-night-a-week Red Cross class to be taught by an instructor from Atlanta.

The spring formals are out. The time and money would mean more to the Red Cross. And where would the dates come from?

The campuses are quiet. The jittery are gone. Everyone studies and works.

If the oven or any other part of a coal stove has become rusty, try rubbing it with steel wool slightly moistened with oil.

News Briefs
From City Hall

Police in cruiser cars, on foot and those assigned to the detective bureau have been obtaining results, relative to recent car thefts and today Police Chief Willis G. McMullen instructed officers to make an exhaustive search for persons who have been stealing federal auto stamps. They also are searching for the person who stole tools from the car of A. G. Hughes at 1219 Finch street last night. Police are also watching for persons who change tires at a place other than beneath a street light. He has also warned car owners to lock garage doors.

Because of the peril which exists in our country Chief of Police W. G. McMullen has issued orders to all police here to be on the alert every minute of the day and night for suspicious characters. He is not taking anything for granted and any person who upon being quizzed cannot give a good accounting is apt to be taken to police headquarters for further questioning.

The Democratic leader predicted there would be a primary fight between Luther A. Harr, former Philadelphia city treasurer, and Auditor General F. Clair Ross, "but there will be no bitterness when it's all over," he said. Both Harr and Ross will be present at the February 14 meeting of Democratic leaders here he has summoned to meet at Harrisburg, said Meyers.

"They will of course abscond themselves when the group discusses candidates," he added. The Democratic chairman said the conferees, who will include Guffey and Lawrence, may attempt to induce either Harr or Ross to withdraw, but added he thought they were both "in the fight to the end."

A unicameral legislature is being advocated by William H. Anthony, Allentown, a Democratic candidate for state senator. Anthony said the present two-chamber assembly was unbusinesslike and predicted a single chamber would mean a saving of $1,500,000 a session to the taxpayers. Anthony's proposal is not new. It has been advanced before in Pennsylvania, as it has in practically every other state in the union. Legislation has been introduced from time to time in the Pennsylvania legislature to set up a unicameral body, but it has always died in committee. Only one state, Nebraska, has a unicameral legislature, and that was brought about only through the personal influence of Sen. George Norris, Nebraska Independent. It has little chance of being adopted in Pennsylvania in the near future.

The new guard, Independent Republican movement, appears to have run into difficulty in finding a candidate for governor. It is reported that the group led by P. Stephen Stahlnecker, former Pinchot campaign manager, and supported by E. T. Weir, Pittsburgh steelman among others, had decided upon Richard P. Brown, of Philadelphia.

Friends of James Higgins, will regret to learn of his serious illness. He consulted his physician in Ellwood and was sent to the home of his son, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Higgins, of Ellwood, where he is confined to his bed.

He favored "stringent measures" to protect the motorists' right to full use of his rationed tires.

Sylvester's Milk was chosen fourth in the Pennsylvania State Farm Show contest at Harrisburg. All state competition.

RICH, CLEAN MILK AND MILK PRODUCTS BECAUSE . . . We select our farmers. We do not buy milk from just any farmer. We must pass a state inspection several times each year. We pay the cost of this inspection to make sure that his stables are clean and airy and that the milking is done in a sanitary manner.

We wash and steam the farmers milk cans before they are sent back to the farmers to be refilled.

We test milk received for bacteria and butterfat content. Thus you are assured that our milk is always safe and rich in food value. Our bottles are not only washed—they are steamed with live steam, which kills all possible germs.

All of the pipes, etc., in our plant through which milk flows, are dismantled every day, washed and steamed, and reassembled. Briefly, milk handling machinery is torn down and rebuilt daily to assure clean healthful dairy products. Our plant floors are scrubbed daily.

From the time our milk is received from the farmers in sterilized cans and until the bottles are on the customers' door steps, no human hand touches it. It is processed through our super-clean machinery and bottled in super-clean sterilized containers—all by machines.

No item of food can be more healthful and clean than our milk and milk products.

Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—The Democratic party is in for a peaceful primary election, in sharp contrast to the hectic one of 1938, if the predictions of Democratic State Chairman Meredith Meyers turn out to be correct. All the elements for another bitter party struggle are present, but Meyers said it would all end peacefully. He said: "Guffey and Lawrence know the party couldn't stand a repetition of what occurred in 1938. They're both interested in the welfare of the party and don't want to see it break up. . . they'll both be swinging for whoever wins the primary."

Relief, which was rapidly disappearing from the state's political scene as a live issue, may return with a bang before the year is over. . . pressure is being exerted on the administration to increase the grants to relief families. . . the move has been recommended by the public assistance board . . . but it takes money.

New Castle Takes First Place, Trim Aliquippa 49 To 29

New Castle Gets Revenge On Steelers In Lopsided Friday Battle

Bobby Lee And Cyril Melichar Star, New Brighton Dumps Ambridge

New Castle High's hard fighting basketball team gained undisputed possession of first place in Section Three last night by walloping a highly favored Aliquippa quintet 49 to 29 before a sell-out crowd at George Washington High gym. New Brighton dumped Ambridge 43 to 36, thus paving the way for the locals to become sole leaders of the top rung.

Playing a brand of basketball that hinted of championship caliber, the New Castle team gained the revenge they wanted on the Aliquippa team for the 43 to 25 setback handed them at Aliquippa in the league opener. It was a second-half rally that turned the trick for the Phil Bridenbaugh coached machine.

Tied Up First Period
At the outset of the battle Cyril Melichar put New Castle into the lead by sinking two quick field goals to make it 4 to 0, but Sudek and Hodanovich of the visiting team sunk baskets that tied the old game up at 4-4. It was a dip-dong affair from here to the end of the period, with both teams fighting hard. The count was 9-9 as the buzzer sounded.

New Castle was out in front 9 to 6 with a minute of play left in the first period. Hodanovich made a foul and Melichar a field goal for the visitors to knot the count.

Locals Take Lead
Lee made a field goal at the start of the second period to put New Castle in the lead 11 to 9, and the red and black tossers were never behind after this. Sudek tied it up at 11-11, then Burris made a fielder and Lee a foul as the New Castle team started to draw away from the visitors. With 4 minutes of the second period left New Castle held a 15 to 13 lead, when Sudek made a field goal for the Steelers. The score was knotted again at 15-15, when Glad made a field goal with a minute of the second period left.

Lee blazed in a field goal that put New Castle in front 17 to 15 as the first half ended. It was anybody's ball game at this stage. Both

Ring Devotees Aid I. P. Cause

Promotion To Help Swell Fund To Combat Infantile Paralysis

ALL-STAR MENU FOR FIGHT-HUNGRY

Whenever a worthy cause needs a financial boost sponsors usually turn to the sport ranks for aid and always get it, evidence of which is the promotion by the Jefferson A. C. of the amateur fight show here next Wednesday to aid the Infantile Paralysis fund. The same committee which headed the President's ball is cooperating with the Jefferson A. C. ring officials and an overflow crowd is expected to see the All-Star calendar.

Champs and near-champs and just plain sluggers, or boys who like to "throw leather" have been assigned berths on the eight bout program. Some will come from West Virginia, others from Ohio and still others from western Pennsylvania points. There are a couple of repeat bouts because of popular demand and because of interest in these fights Arena Operator Ed Richardson has been warned to obtain extra seats.

Fistic Line-Up
Les Leasure, runner-up for the Lawrence county middleweight title vs Norman Fitch, Chester, W. Va.
Franklin Cordy, Niles vs Nick Wargo, Diamond Belt junior champion, 139 Pittsburgh, return bout. Cordy won over Wargo recently.
Russell Baxter, Lawrence county middleweight champion vs Red Bardo, Pittsburgh.
Billy Shelton, Pittsburgh vs Melio Donelli, Youngstown, 135. Shelton fought Rollin Horne here recently and lost an unpopular decision.
George Magnum, Chester, W. Va. vs Howard James, A. M. & Junior 175-pound champion, Aliquippa. Magnum won a TKO at McKeesport, Thursday.

"Chuck" Jackson, Diamond Belt 112 pound champion vs Dick Roach, Niles, runner-up for the Plain Deal title and who fought here recently.
Al Leasure vs Wayne Dillon, 130, Chester, W. Va., who scored a knock-out at McKeesport, Thursday.
According to Attorney Walter A. Kleier and Assemblyman Presley Jones who are cooperating with Tommy Leach, Ed Fritz, Ray Wallace and others of the sports community, the outlook for a "S. R. O." sign is bright. They point out that in return for fans' money the fans are certain to see some of the most interesting amateur boxing bouts possible to see hereabouts.

All the boxers are in training. The local "biffs" are reported in shape for the battles which are yet days distant.

Titans Favored To Stop Jackets

Westminster College All-Out To Finish Remainder Of Season Undeclared

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 7.—Faced with the stiff assignment of having to win its remaining nine games to establish itself among the country's major powers, Westminster college moves toward that end tonight in New Wilmington against Waynesburg college.

The tussle, the second of the season for the rivals, starts at 8:15 o'clock.

With three blemishes on the record, the Titans must sail through undefeated from here in to gain national recognition. Thus far, the Lawrence countians have bowed before Duquesne, 34-32, Geneva, 49-46, and Toledo university, 50-43. The localites avenged the Geneva setback and will face the Dukes on March 3. The Ohioans will not be played again this season.

Titans Favored
In tonight's fracas, the Titans are heavy favorites, due to the fact that in an earlier setto, Westminster emerged as easy winner, 42-27, in Pittsburgh. The Jackets, however, rank as a more powerful unit. Thursday night, Waynesburg spilled Alderson-Broaddus, 59-48, in impressive fashion.

If the Titan regulars manage to pile up a sizeable lead, most of the substitutes will see action, at least Coach Washabaugh hopes so. Fox, Ridi, Wasik, Dale Dunmire and Joe Spak will start as the Titans seek their 10th victory.

Westminster faces three opponents within the next four nights. Following the Waynesburg skirmish, the Titans hit the road again, meeting West Chester State Teachers college in West Chester, Pa., on Monday night and Millersville State Teachers college on Tuesday night in Millersville, Pa.

The starting lineup:
Westminster Fg. F. T. P.
F. Norton
Ridi, f. 1 0 2
Wasik, c. 1 0 3
Spak, g. 1 0 2
D. Dunmire, g. 1 0 2

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Saturday sports roundup:
The Fred Miller who flouted a Westminster cage outfit against Geneva college is the same performer who starred with last season's crack brigade. During the past summer, Fred answered Uncle Sam's call to colors. He selected the air corps and was sent to Los Angeles.
Difficulty in landing a plane caused the army men to defer Miller. As a result, Miller will be available to the Titans for the remainder of the present season as well as the 1942-43 campaign unless the current conflict gets worse.
John Eagleson, New Wilmington High coach, has earned the sobriquet, "Move it." During all games involving the "Greyhounds," the genial Eagleson spends his time on the sidelines shouting, "Move it," meaning the ball for the benefit of any late comers.
Medical science has discovered that eating carrots improves the vision. I sincerely believe that base ball can take a bow for the worthwhile finding. I can't help but feel that ingenious minds adopted a "we must do something about it" attitude after watching some of the nation's umpires in action.
The upsets magazine, Esquire, in a recent poll found that 87 per cent of ballots agreed that boxing interest would increase nationally if championship bouts weren't confined exclusively to New York City. Michigan university has changed its athletic setup so that H. C. "Fritz" Crisler is athletic director and grid coach. In short, he's "it."
Wonder how the gallant army men feel to read that Joe Blow, of the Rankees, is holding out for $40,000 instead of $30,000 when he (the guy in the khaki) is getting only $21 a month to help win a war so that Joe Blow can continue to get a five figured salary for playing baseball.
Still like to know how "Dizzy" Dean is doing. Wonder what his plans are for the coming season? Harry Wills, who plagued Jack Dempsey during the Manassa Mauler's heydays, has started his annual one month diet. From now until about March 7 and 8, the colored athlete, now 50 and wealthy, won't touch any solid foods.

Falcons Will Play Akron Five Sunday

Factor Girls Will Play Youngstown In Preliminary Game At 2 O'Clock

Another fine double-header basketball attraction is booked for the Polish Falcon Hall on Sunday afternoon with the first game at 2 o'clock finding the Joe Factor girls playing the Akron O'Neils. The Factor girls are the Youngstown Federal Savings girls.

The Federal Savings girls are the champions of Youngstown and also Eastern Ohio and come here with a strong roster. The Factor girls after two straight defeats, hope to climb on board the victory wagon.

The Polish Falcons riding a string of six straight wins, will be out to make it seven in a row Sunday when they tangle with the powerful Steinberger club of Akron, Ohio, formerly the Akron O'Neils. The players are made up of former Goodyear and Firestone stars. Frank Garcia and Dave Appleby, former Akron U. stars are in the lineup. The Steinbergers have won 19 and lost 2 this year.

Coach Henry Koszela will have his strongest possible lineup available for the battle that is expected to take place.

The following are the probable lineups:
Polish Falcons Akron
Koszela, f. F. Norton
Kendra, f. F. Norton
Olson, c. C. Moushok
Adams, g. G. Scarry
Wenda, g. G. Varnak

High Reserves Handed Lacing

The Aliquippa High Reserves had too many big guns for the New Castle High Reserves last night in the preliminary game at Washington gym, winning 38 to 30 in a rousing battle.

Dzuavor, Cheznar and Pukach were the high scoring stars in the Aliquippa lineup, while for New Castle the work of Cowden and Eddie Jacobs was the best.

The summary:
New Castle G. F. P.
Jackson, f. 0 2 2

Franklin, f. 1 1 3
Cowden, c. 3 0 6

Turn Upward In Late Trading—Impart Steady Tone To Market

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Railroad shares met support and turned upward in late trading today, imparting a steadier tone to the stock market.

Scattered buying came into rails toward the close, and fractional gains were substituted for small losses earlier. Atchison set the pace.

U. S. Steel steadied but other steels were sluggish. Chrysler steadied also after being slightly lower.

Commodities were as dull as stocks. Losses and gains were about evenly divided on the bond market where U. S. Governments were quiet and foreign bonds mixed. The curb market receded farther with most losses small.

What looks like a tornado twisting its way over the municipal airport of Kansas City is condensed moisture from exhausts of a plane which, due to zero temperature, has congealed into a frozen white cloud.

Douglas Gorr, 24, of Reading, Pa., had one important task to take care of before his induction into the army. For three years he had been collecting rubber bands, amassing a total of approximately 100,000. He is shown above with the 70-pound ball of rubber which he turned over to be reclaimed. It is estimated that there was enough rubber in the bands to recap nine average-sized tires.

Report Plane-Glider Invasion Of Britain Planned By Hitler

Dutch Newspaper Publishes Evidence Pointing To Nazi Preparations For A Mass Glider Assault

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

LONDON—Hitler remains convinced that a successful air-borne invasion of Britain is possible.

Airplanes towing convoys of gliders, which are cheap and easy to build, will be the main method of transport and alleged evidence of Hitler's long-term preparation for this glider assault of Britain were published by Vrij-Nederland, the Free Dutch newspaper in London.

Before the battle of Crete the paper published eye-witness accounts from Holland of the first German tests with troop-carrying gliders and since then Dutchmen who have escaped to Britain state that the Germans believe invasion of Britain is inevitable, irrespective of what transpires in Russia, and that gliders will be the key weapon for this attempt.

Vrij-Nederland stated: "Reports from Holland disclose that the Nazis are striving to recruit Dutch youths, among the most air-minded in the world, to aid them in their glider-invasion plans."

A big campaign conducted with the maximum of Nazi ballyhoo is in full swing throughout Holland to interest youths in gliders. The joys and thrills of gliding are extolled and Dutch boys are told that gliding is the most sporting hobby in the world.

"The Dutch Nazi youth movement—the Ertom Trooper—has been put under German control. It is known that its members are building gliders under the direction of German experts. These gliders are being constructed not for the pastime of the boys but for the German army's use. Encouragement given to Dutch boys to manipulate gliders is designed to get them trained so that eventually they may be used as glider pilots in an offensive against Britain.

"There are indications that Hitler's build and fly your own gliders offer is to be increasingly developed and that the cost of the raw materials is to be met out of Dutch funds.

"He is eager to win over Holland's youth to Nazism particularly as schoolboys and students have been among his bitterest opponents in the Netherlands. His technique is demonstrated by the Nazi magazine at Rotterdam who in imposing nominal sentence on a batch of schoolboys aged 12 to 17 following the assaulting of Dutch Nazis said, 'I hope the leniency shown will induce you to become Nazis because I do not believe your counsel's statement that this was a political crime.'"

Friday, a supply of 1,300 pounds of wool yarn was received by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, which will be distributed to the various organizations and individuals who have been knitting for the chapter during the past two years.

The Red Cross has been designated by the government as the only organization to carry on future knitting activities. Manager Walter Davidson, of the Eastern Area of the Red Cross, has advised the local chapter.

Mrs. Robert Garland, chairman of the knitting service of the local chapter, will begin distribution of the yarn to those who have had their applications in for this material.

Hints On Etiquette

When you and your fiancé take a girl friend for a blind date, don't introduce the young couple and then leave them alone. Keep together at least until you see how the strangers-to-each-other are getting along, and if it looks as if they would have a good time together.

War Insurance Bill Is Changed

Citizens Must Apply For And Buy Insurance Before Being Eligible

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The house banking and currency committee on Thursday rewrote the bill to provide that citizens who suffer property losses by military acts must apply for and buy insurance before they are eligible for government compensation.

The measure, which was approved by the committee, creates a $1,000,000 war insurance corporation to be administered by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. At the same time the RFC was given authority to determine what rates must be paid for the premiums.

As passed by the senate, the bill provided that compensation up to $15,000 could be paid without requiring premiums, but the insurance for any greater amounts would have to be purchased.

Members said that under the house committee version of the measure, people will be insured free until such time as the RFC sets up the new corporation, estimated to take about 30 days.

After that, they said, all insurance must be paid for. They added, however, that rates for this government protection probably will be very low.

The committee approved without change another section of the bill which increases the RFC lending power by $2,500,000,000. It also adopted an amendment making the free insurance retroactive to Dec. 7 so that those who suffered losses in the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor may be recompensed.

Britain Plans To Reward Cats Who Do Their Duty

(International News Service)

LONDON.—Even cats can be heroes in this war.

And every hero deserves a reward—even if he be a cat.

Britain's food minister has decreed that cats shall henceforth be rewarded for the war effort of ridding the country of its mice.

From now on, warehousemen are to be issued with special supplies of milk to be distributed to their rat and mice catchers.

The milk will be drawn from stocks that have been damaged during transit, or rendered inedible for human consumption by enemy action.

Cats who come under this new ruling must be engaged in keeping down mice and rats in warehouses in which at least 250 tons of food or animal feeding stuffs are stored.

There has been a made a suggestion here, however, that if the cats are fed with milk, they won't be hungry; won't go after the rats; and so will cease to be national heroes.

Which, if true, should thoroughly complicate the matter.

Free French Air Squadron Active In Desert Fighting

Is Called 'Largest Single Air Force Unit In The World'

By LOWELL BENNETT
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

LONDON.—Latest addition to Britain's growing air-strength in the Middle East, a Free French bomber squadron has just taken its place with South African and Australian squadrons in the Western Desert.

Fittingly named the "Lorraine Squadron" (symbol of the Free French is the Lorraine Cross), with personnel trained by R.A.F. instructors, it has been equipped with medium bombers and has been described as the "largest single air force unit in the world."

Both pilots and ground staff are all volunteers, having made their way to Egypt from all parts of the world, including "occupied France."

Some even escaped from concentration camps in Germany, including the commanding officer, Commandant Edouard Corniglion-Molinier, ace flier of the last war and former explorer, film actor, journalist, author, and civil aviator.

With Jim Molison, famous British long-distance speed flier, Corniglion-Molinier established the New London-Cape Town record. At the age of 16, he was the youngest fighter pilot of the last war; was awarded the Croix de Guerre for destroying 12 German planes.

He received the same decoration against last year at the age of 41—the oldest fighter pilot of this war—for destroying seven German aircraft.

Colorado G. O. P. Is Back On Top In Washington

(International News Service)

DENVER.—The political star of the Colorado G. O. P. dimmed by the Democratic landslide in 1932, glowed brightly again with the turn of the year as the party gained a majority delegation in Washington for the first time in a decade.

Gain of a seat in the Senate and one in the House gave the Republicans a 4-to-2 majority. New G. O. P. members of Congress from Colorado are Senator Eugene D. Millikin, Denver attorney, who was appointed by Governor Ralph L. Carr to succeed the late Alva B. Adams, and Representative Robert P. Rockwell, of Paonia, elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the veteran Edward T. Taylor. Both succeed Democrats.

In addition, the Republicans have gained a seat on the state supreme court bench in Justice William S. Jackson, Colorado Springs lawyer, who was named to succeed the late Chief Justice Francis E. Bouck.

Two Senate Seats Open in 1942
Senator Millikin will serve until 1942, when Colorado will vote for two senators at the general election.

Senator Ed. C. Johnson, who with Congressman Lawrence Lewis, of Denver, now makes up the Democratic side of the state's Washington representation, also comes up for re-election this year.

Carr, Colorado's first Republican governor in 10 years, took office in 1933 at a time when the Democrats had both seats in the Senate, the four seats in the House and a 6-to-1 majority in the state supreme court. During his term, three Colorado congressmen, all Democrats, have died in office. Besides Adams and Taylor, these included Representative John Martin, who was succeeded at the last general election by Republican Congressman J. Edgar Chenoweth.

THE NEW CASTLE STORE

A number of inquiries have come to the Salvation Army office regarding the work of the Salvation Army in the war. The Salvation Army is proud of the reputation it earned during the last conflict, and expects to do as much and more during the present.

This is the first of a series of articles dealing with this important phase of work. We have no large publicity personnel, and therefore do not publish our works as probably some would like. If you want to know what the Salvation Army is doing among the service men in camps or war areas, our recommendation is: "Ask the men themselves."

The first article is on the Pearl Harbor situation.

Hawaii Manned

All Salvation Army institutions on the island of Oahu, including homes for women, boys and girls, are now feeding and sheltering evacuees from military target areas.

Additional supplies will soon be needed for permanent relief bases. The bustling forth of war with all its agonizing surprises, heart-breaks and bloodshed has precipitated an intensification of the entire task of military and naval warfare work, but the first exploding bomb on United States soil found the Salvation Army ready and on the job.

It is significant that on the island of Oahu, T. H., the first point of attack, were stationed two commands o Salvationists. First—for military welfare work, under United Service Organizations—comprised Major and Mrs. Alva M. Holbrook, stationed at Schofield Barracks, near Wahiawa, where Major Holbrook, is director of the USO unit.

The second—the Hawaiian Islands Division—consisted of some 40 trained officers under Brigadier and Mrs. Arthur W. Brewer operation from the divisional headquarters at Honolulu. Trained in all phases of welfare work, first aid, and the utilization of available resources, this division was among the first to the rescue of the afflicted, civilian and fighter alike, with all the equipment and supplies at its disposal.

43 Salvationist USO Units. Almost automatically, the Salvation Army was placed on a war footing, with its entire personnel and facilities at the call of the President and other authorities for the prosecution of the war to the victory, justice and peace that must follow.

In our United Service Organizations operations the outbreak of definite hostilities found the Salvation Army designated with the direction of 43 units—from Maine to Hawaii—in this great inter-faith wartime welfare project. More designations are expected to follow at the discretion of the USO field plans committee.

Now, much more than while our nation was officially at peace, we must regard the importance of morale, both among defenders and civilians. The USO operations, therefore, take on a far greater significance. The work of the clubs now in operation will be magnified. We fully anticipate their increased use in army camp communities and at naval bases during holiday and week-end periods. The scope of activity by club directors will be widened and there will be additional calls upon local resources. With the proposed increases to our armed strength, more clubs and designations will inevitably be needed. For all of these demands—non-existent a few weeks ago—I am happy to state that the national Salvation Army is ready.

Homelike Service Stressed

In all of its USO details, the Salvation Army strives to render a real homelike service to the soldier and sailor away from home, and to fit him for his ultimate return to his family upon the resumption of a just peace. We shall, as the occasion warrants, keep the cookie jars filled, provide a snack after a long march, visit the sick in hospitals, arrange for dinners and other hospitality in private homes, bring the gospel to ship's brig or fort guardhouse, even sew buttons on uniforms, and with all means at our command watch over the comfort, spirit and mind in those little things upon which so much depends.

Fortified by the background acquired under fire in France a generation ago, and bolstered by the support of a united citizenry that makes our service possible, the Salvation Army goes forth to war with the firm conviction that, through the grace of God, nothing shall be permitted to interrupt a mission, without which our nation would suffer, and with which it confidently battles for the right, for freedom and for future tranquility and happiness.
